One of the World's Leading Media Scientists Joins Stan Lee Media Board of Directors

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Dec. 30, 1999--It was announced today that Nelson S. Thall, Director of Research for the Centre for Media Sciences of Toronto and one of the world's leading Media Scientists, has joined the board of directors of Stan Lee Media (OTCBB:SLEE - news).

Thall is recognized as one of the world's leading authorities on the science of communication/ media and process analysis. Thall's extensive background and expertise will contribute a scientific proficiency essential to Stan Lee Media's strategic planning and success.

In 1998, Thall was elected to the Board of Directors of Torstar Corporation, the largest newspaper-publishing group in Canada, which also owns the Harlequin Romance publishing franchise.

About Nelson S. Thall

In addition to serving as Director of Research for the Centre for Media Sciences, Thall consults government, federal tribunals, commissions and business organizations in Canada and abroad. He is a lecturer/author and has been published in the United States, Canada, Britain and Russia.

His expertise on 'virtual reality technology' and 'multimedia' has afforded him the opportunity to define law terms for the Federal Court of Canada and develop a television series with Dr. Timothy Leary. Thall has been quoted and interviewed in over 100 major magazines and newspapers around the world. Bill Gates and Peter Lloyd invited Thall to contribute an essay to the book Webweaving in 1998.

While studying at the University of Toronto with Professor Marshall McLuhan, Thall became a McLuhan protege and served as President of the Marshall McLuhan Center on Global Communications from 1990 - 1995. Thall currently holds both jet aircraft and helicopter commercial pilot licenses. He is married with two children.
